Ronnie "Shawn" Huebner is Afghanistan Engineer District-South's Bulldog of the Week

KANDAHAR AIRFIELD, Afghanistan — Bulldogs are known for the tenacity. For his tenacity for ensuring early completion of the washracks at the Theater Vehicle Maintenance Complex on Kandahar Airfield, Ronnie "Shawn" Huebner, a construction representative with the Kandahar Airfield resident office, is recognized as the Bulldog of the Week for May 21-26.

"Shawn volunteered to take on the Wash Rack "Czar" position for the Theater Vehicle Maintenance Complex. He has worked tirelessly with the contractor, the wash rack designer, pressure washer manufacturer and others to ensure the wash rack units remain operational, proper maintenance is performed and improvements are identified and implemented," said Dan L. Johnson, Kandahar Airfield area engineer.

"Shawn knows all the personnel using the wash racks and provides them direct, hands on, assistance with cleaning and anything else necessary to keep the wash racks functioning," he said.

"Without Shawn's bulldog mentality, the wash racks would not be functioning to the level necessary to support the vehicle redeployment mission," said Air Force Col. Benjamin Wham, South District commander. "His perseverance ensured that this vital facility was functioning to the level necessary to meet mission requirements."
